MANGANESE

Messrs. Reeves and Nolting, with the United States Geological Survey, are in Pocahontas county this week, looking for manganese ore. They have headquarters at Gum's tourist camp near Minnehaha Springs. Loose fragmentary pieces of manganese ore are to be picked up in Pocahontas county, particularly on Brown's and Johnson's mountains. It is fervently hoped these scientists will be able to find the deposit from which these fragments came. The rough, field test for manganese is to scratch any black, heavy stone with a piece of steel. If there is a red streak, throw the specimen away—it is iron ore. If a dark streak shows up, keep the sample, remember the place, and see that it gets in the hands of the geologists. Manganese is one natural resource the United States is short on. It is in great demand in the making of steel. At present much of the supply comes from Russia.

Sunday School Lesson

For May 6, 1934

Jesus, Acclaimed King! This is the title given the Sunday School lesson based on Matthew 21:1-46. The printed text in your lesson helps will probably be the first fourteen verses of that chapter. But read the entire chapter. Follow the method of some of our best Bible teachers, and read the Bible text over very carefully, several times. After doing that, and so, letting the word make its own impression, read what follows. What is written here by way of comment, certainly makes no claim to being an exhaustive treatment; it is only intended to be suggestive, and is offered in the hope that these comments may be helpful.

The Jews wanted a king; they eagerly looked for "The Promised One." But they had fixed ideas as to what their expected king should be like, and in what manner he should come. So fixed were these ideas that when the One came, who had had His claims abundantly verified by God "with signs and wonders," their judgment was warped by pride which blinded them to all truth. As you have read this chapter, you could not fail to be impressed by two facts—1st, Christ offered Himself to Israel as King; 2nd, The Rulers of Israel Rejected Him.

Let us look at the offer Christ made long years before, the prophet Zechariah had said: "Behold thy king cometh unto thee, meek, and sitting upon an ass, and a colt the foal of an ass." On the day of which our passage tells, that scripture was being fulfilled in the history of Jerusalem. If you will look at Mark 8:31, Luke 18:31-34, you will see that Jesus perfectly understood what awaited Him at Jerusalem. He was to be "delivered up unto the Gentiles" and "mocked, and shamefully treated, and spit upon." That had been clear before His vision for a long time. Yet, knowing that these experiences awaited Him, He set His face "as a flint" to go to Jerusalem, and made the gracious offer of Himself unto the Jews.

A natural question suggests itself to our minds here: "Knowing all that He did know about how he would be received, why did Jesus assume the role of royalty, and enter Jerusalem as a king?" Before that mystery-mortal can only bow the head and say that, whatever reason there must have been in the wisdom of an infinite God's plan for His Son, the scripture suggests to us this—that in dealing with Israel, God determined to lead them without excuse. We read that our God "delighteth in mercy"; this, then, was His final, gracious offer of Himself in love and in mercy to a people whose leaders had shortly before said "He hath a devil!"

That we are considering a formal presentation of Himself as king, is shown by Old Testament prophecy, and by the language of Luke 19:41-44; "If thou hadst known, even thou, at least in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace!" And in another place, "How often would I build thee up, but thou wouldest not! Such was the attitude of Christ, as in fulfilling all that was written of Him in the prophets, but far more in expressing in word and in deed to men the love of God which passeth knowledge. He came once and to Jerusalem in mercy and condescension:

"O matchless kindness, and He shows. This matchless kindness to His foes!"

What reception was accorded Him? A two-fold reception: By the pilgrims who accompanied Him, or who were in the way, going up to the feast, He was acclaimed "with enthusiasm as the one who 'came in the name of the Lord.'" That was the enthusiasm of a crowd, they were for the time being swept from their feet by the wonders they had seen and by the words which had been said. Later, under the skilled handling of the religious authorities, that enthusiasm dwindled until it either disappeared, or was turned into the channel of hate which these same rulers had been digging for three years.

Rev. Marlin H. Curry, Pastor
The Presbyterian young people of

His reception by the chief priests and scribes was that of angry resentment of the action of the crowd, and unconcealed enmity toward Christ. "Hearst thou what these say?" Not only did He hear, but He welcomed their acclaim. It had been appointed that He should come to Jerusalem that day in the manner of a royal person. "I tell you that if these should hold their peace, the stone would immediately cry out!" (Lk 10:40). But were the rulers convinced? Were they in any way led away from their pride and its effects? Look at Luke 19:47 R. V. "And he was teaching daily in the temple. But the chief priests and the scribes and the principal men of the people sought to destroy Him."

It is pertinent to ask, "What was the result of such willful pride and the blindness it produced?" There came, in the year 70 A. D., the day of which Christ had spoken, when not one stone was left upon another. The Roman army under Titus, captured Jerusalem amid scenes of suffering that have seldom if ever been equalled. Another question? "What has all this to do with?" This:

Christ offers Himself as King, to every man, woman and child. The evidence in support of the righteousness that claim to be king in our lives, is over-whelming. The age old question comes to each one, whether we will or not. "What shall I then do with Jesus, which is called Christ?"

CAMP WATOGA

Camp Watoga's first dance held at Camp Watoga on Saturday evening, April 21, 1934 turned out to be a huge success according to reports from all quarters.

This dance was planned by the personnel of Camp Watoga and others in Marlinton approximately two weeks before it was held. All committees coordinated their efforts so well that when the orchestra struck up the first note of music not a detail was lacking. Arrangements were in the hands of the following committees:

Arrangements: Captain L. H. Headington, Camp Commander. Transportation: Lt. G. R. Willis, Motor Transport Officers; Raymond S. Whittinger, James J. Collins.
Decorations: Chairman, George B. Roth, assisted by William Haiko and Kenneth Bennett. The Recreation Hall was so well decorated with the camp colors—Green and White that there was comment on the artistic conceptions of this committee.

Floor: Chairman, N. S. MacCartney assisted by Theodore Martin, Robert Case, George Zamaria and John Hrivnek. This committee deserves considerable praise for its hard work in preparing a rough pine floor so that couples could glide gracefully to the strains of soft music.
Refreshments: Lt. L. N. Podesta, William Flexer, Clarence Bennett. Refreshments of a huge cake and gallons of snappy punch added to the merriment of the dance.

Invitations: Mrs. Lucy Clark, Mrs. S. H. Sharp.
Entertainment: Curtis McCoy. McCoy succeeded in mixing up the crowd by circle dances thereby getting everyone acquainted with one another.

Chaperones: Mrs. Lucy Clark, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Sharp.
Reception: J. P. Kinsey, William Haiko.

The dance hall was decorated with green and white crepe streamers and the Orchestra Pit, especially prepared for the dance, was decorated with the same material. The words "Camp Watoga—Always Ready" were placed in green letters on a white background over a beautiful arch just in front of the orchestra. The lighting arrangements of the Orchestra Pit together with the decorations gave this part of the building a very beautiful effect. Over the dance floor, were green and white streamers each of which ended at an electric light bulb which was covered with a large shade of crepe paper. The soft light over the floor and the brightly illuminated Orchestra Pit made one forget that the dance was in a CCC camp.

Goldberg's Orchestra from Elkins furnished the music which lasted from 8:30 to 12:00. Approximately 100 people from Marlinton and vicinity were present when the dance commenced, and these, together with the members of Camp Watoga, filled the dance hall to almost overflowing.

Mrs. Lucy Clark, Mrs. S. H. Sharp and Mrs. Bruce Crikard started the dance off in fine style by introducing the girls from Marlinton to the boys of Camp Watoga and in a very short time many handsome couples were enjoying themselves on the dance floor to the tune of "soft and sweet" music.

As a special favor to the members of Camp Watoga who have their homes in Ohio, the orchestra played Beautiful Ohio, and without a doubt this song caused many a thought to turn homeward.

During intermission cake and punch were served for refreshments. This part of the dance was especially enjoyed by all as was indicated by the busy waiters behind the refreshment counter. The cake was a beautiful and delicious three layered affair prepared by the Marlinton Baking Co. It was frosted with green and white, the camp colors, with the words CCC 1525 Camp Watoga artistically arranged around a flag and flag pole that was surrounded with pine trees and flowers. Captain Eldon A. Huchison, District Chaplain and A & R Officer, was given the honor of cutting the cake and performed this feat with great efficiency.

As a crowning touch to the dance a large number of brightly colored balloons were released from a net suspended from the ceiling and the various couples had great fun in preserving their balloons from pins and cigar eties.

The camp was honored by the presence of Captain Eldon Huchison, District Chaplain and A & R Officer, Captain E. R. Howerly, formerly attached to Camp Watoga, and Lt. Glazey, Camp Surgeon at Camp Seneca. These officers are well known in this vicinity and did much to make the dance a success.

At 12 the bugle call for "Attention" was sounded after which Kenneth Bennett blew a very impressive "Taps" to a very attentive audience. This was the signal for the homeward march and all departed after a delightful evening's entertainment.

At the meeting of Greenbrier Presbytery held in Hinton last week the commissioners elected to the General Assembly were Rev. A. H. Clark of Hinton, and Rev. J. M. Moore of Lewisburg, and Elder H. C. Erwin, of Alderson, and Elder J. H. George, of Organ Cave. The assembly again meets at Montreat, North Carolina, and the opening date is May 24.

There will be community song service at the new Cumming Creek Church, May 6, 1934, beginning at 2 o'clock. We are expecting the band from Camp Watoga to play. Everybody welcome.

M. L. Beard is quite ill at his home at Hillsboro.

Maynard's Movie Cowboys Must Have Range Records

Hollywood has more cowboys per square mile than any other place in the world.

Some 2000 horse and lariat artists live within the bounds of the film capital, which makes it a comparatively easy job to "cast" a western film—at least so one would think.

Ken Maynard, range veteran and popular western film star, who comes to the Seneca Theatre next Friday and Saturday in his latest Universal action drama, "Fiddlin' Buckaroo", says that to accurately cast his picture is always a problem, despite the existence of "Hollywood cowboys."

Maynard insists on the real thing, and hand-picks his men.

"A lot of screen cowboys aren't real," says Maynard. "And the clothes they wear would earn them a ride out of town in any western town."

A record on the range is the first thing Maynard, who casts, and in the case of "Fiddlin' Buckaroo", directs his own pictures, asks for.
Gloria Shea, Fred Kohler, Frank Rice, Jack Rockwell and other screen favorites round out the large cast of the film, said to include a number of the melodious old cowboy tunes, which Maynard plays and sings.

The Brushy Flat Snappy Gang 4-H Club held their monthly meeting meeting April 26. The roll call was answered by the members naming their favorite flower. Five health rules were given by Julian Sharp; a story of a pet was given by Pauline McClure; Ray Irvine told of his favorite animal and where it lives. Refreshments were served and we adjourned to meet again May 31.
